

Storytime with Horse Buddies

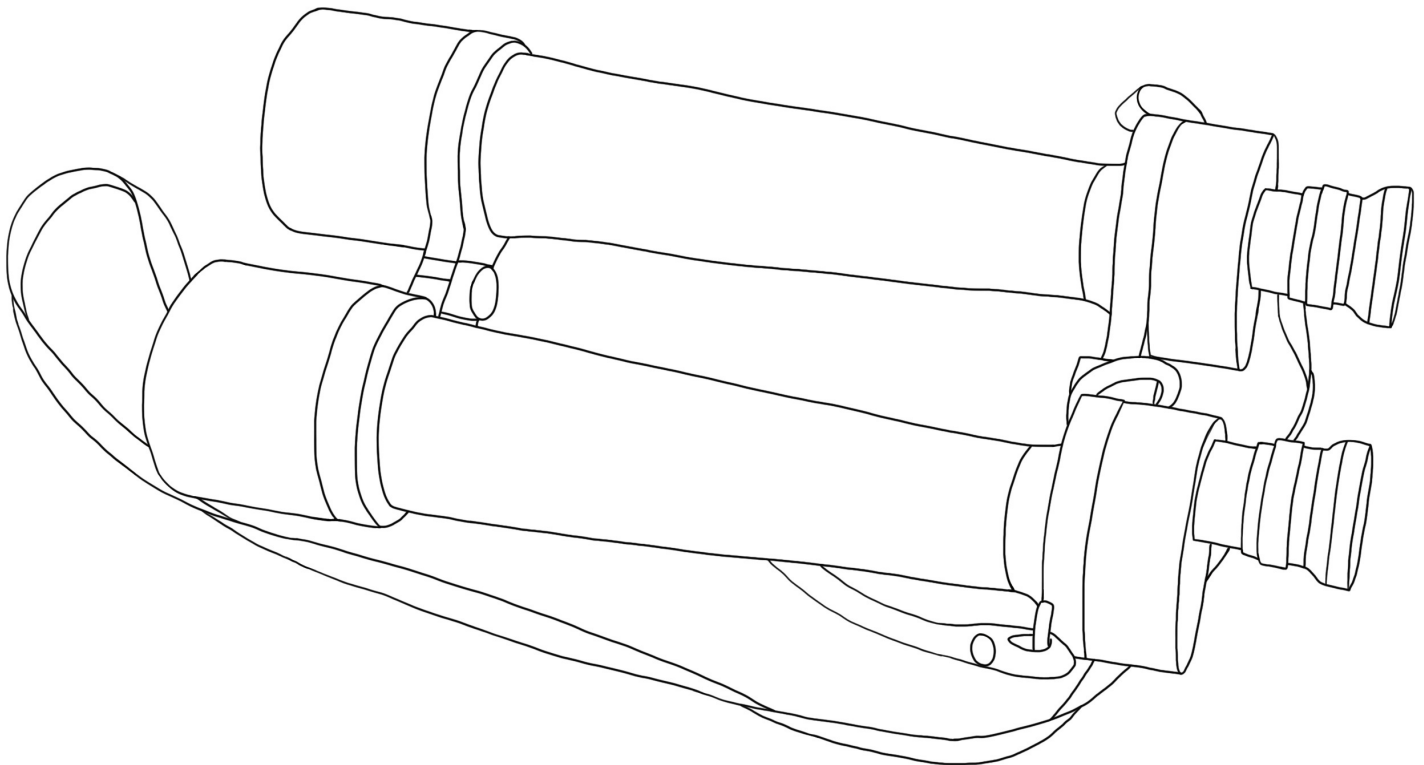

Upset was the only horse to ever beat Man o' War in a race.

Upset won the Sanford Memorial Stakes at Saratoga Race Course on August 13, 1919.

Upset was owned by Harry Payne Whitney.

We have this set of binoculars that belonged to Harry Payne Whitney at the National Museum of Racing and Hall of Fame.

Harry Payne Whitney would have used binoculars like these to watch Upset win on that special day more than 100 years ago.

Send a picture of the binoculars you created to Roda at rferraro@racingmuseum.net for a chance to be featured on the next Storytime with Horse Buddies.
